

Stock Spotlight

Baby Bee Bright Targets UK Distribution Centers

MT. JULIET, Tenn. --- (Business Wire) - Baby Bee Bright Corporation (Pink Sheets: BBYB), developer of a unique prenatal communication system, is expecting a marked increase in sales in the United Kingdom as a result of the release of the publication, "You and Your Family." Considering the fact that the shipping cost from the US to the UK would drive the price of the Baby Bee Bright excessively high, it makes good sense to store inventory and ship it from a distribution center that is located in UK. This will make all Baby Bee Bright products more affordable for the expectant mothers as well as speeding up delivery time on both the retail and wholesale levels. Fred Dahlman, CEO, stated, "Baby Bee Bright is ready to locate distribution centers in the UK as well as possible retail outlets. When "You and Your Family" is in the hands of 500,000 or more expectant mothers in 2010, we need to be ready for sales." About Baby Bee Bright Corporation Baby Bee Bright Corporation manages the Baby Bee Bright™ brand. Its executive staff, composed of professionals with over 30 years of experience in engineering research and marketing, have developed an innovative prenatal communication system, servicing the rapidly expanding expectant mother/prenatal market. The company has a patented, audio directional technology for its communicator which is designed for expectant mothers to safely and efficiently transmit music and sound to their babies. It allows mothers and family to bond with their babies before birth. Lullabies and classical music provide the baby with soothing sounds before and after birth. For more information visit: www.babybeebright.com. Safe Harbor Statement: This release contains forward-looking statements with respect to the results of operations and business of Baby Bee Bright Corp, which involves risks and uncertainties. The Company's actual future results could materially differ from those discussed.